

Real Wedding: Lee Marie + Zach, Part II

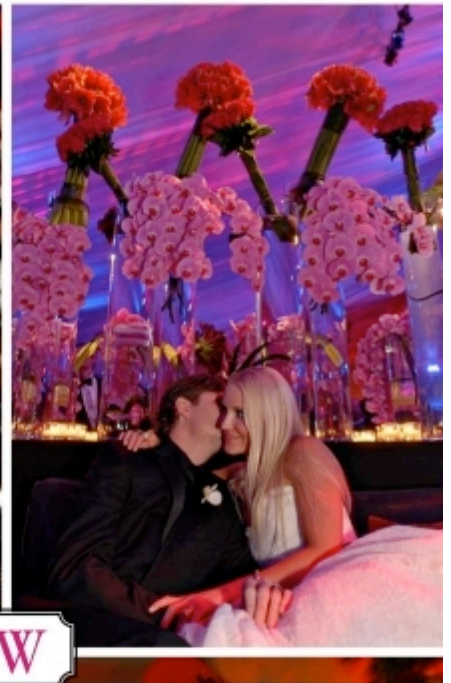

Tuesday, October 21, 2008 at 08:00AM

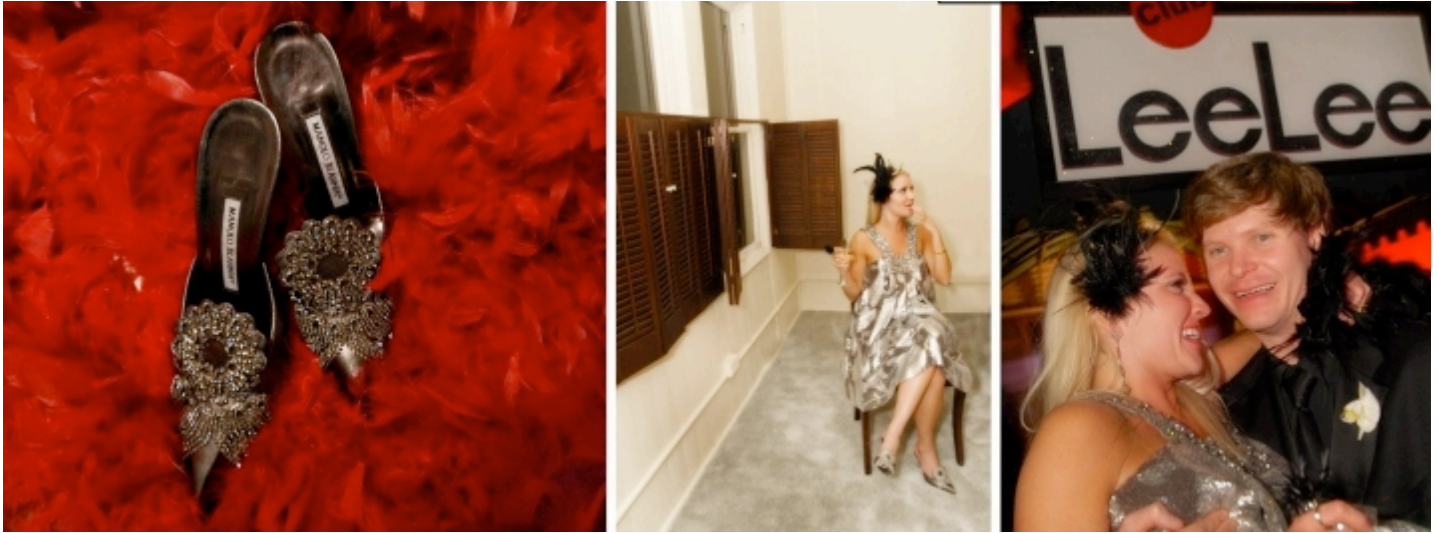

Southern Weddings in Ashley Garmon Photography, Lady Flash Productions, Real Southern Weddings, pink and black

Welcome back to Lee Marie and Zach's ultra-glamorous reception! In this post, we bring you "Club Lee Lee". The decor was modeled after a Parisian hotel with chandeliers, black lounge furniture and zebra print area rugs. The entire event was caught on video by Ashley Chiles of {Lady Flash Productions}. To catch a glimpse of Ashley's work and get an inside look to Lee Marie + Zach's big day, check out the video on Ashley's website {here}. To see more of photographer Ashley Garmon's work check out her {Blog}. Thank you so much, Ashley, for sharing this wedding with us! How about this fab cake!?

The weather on our wedding day was: Full moon, which I love! Clear and in low 70's.

What was the design inspiration for your wedding? Hotel Costes in Paris.

Favorite design element of your big day: Club Lee Lee. We transformed the bottom of the Argyle into a club to continue the party after the wedding. All the colors, lights, and flowers were mimicked after Hotel Costes.

Describe your wedding flowers: David Kurio is all I have to say! He is a genius! We went with deep reds, purples with a background of black which gave a very dramatic feel which is exactly what I wanted. There were buckets of purple orchids and roses that went on forever!

Describe your wedding cake: Seven tiers and it was covered with sugar flowers.

Our favorite detail of the wedding was: The music during the ceremony; which was the music from the movie The Mission and composed by Yo Yo Ma and Ennio Morricone.

Were there any special family traditions you included in the wedding? I carried a handkerchief that was my Grandmother's.

What was your most memorable moment about your wedding day? When I changed out of my wedding dress into my Club Lee Lee regalia newly husband just stared at me and I will never forget that look in his eyes...we were the happiest people on the planet.

Three adjectives that describe the day are: Partied, laughed a lot and danced.

The honeymoon: We went on safari in Botswana, Africa!

Congratulations to Lee Marie + Zach!

Article originally appeared on Southern Weddings Magazine (<http://www.swsmag.net/>).

See website for complete article licensing information.